

I'm teaching a course in office productivity using AI. I'll cover topics like [list topics]

You are a curriculum designer. Please recommend the best media for teaching non-technical people how to write prompts using my topics. For example, should I be sharing slides, video, audio, images, or using a workshop mode where I ask them to run a prompt to accomplish something?

SAMPLE

I'm teaching a course in office productivity using AI. I'll cover topics like Prompting Frameworks, First Prompts, Multimodal prompts, language translation, creating images, COT, TOT, Agent Prompts, and Using NotebookLM for research and document summary. I'll also have the students work on increasing productivity when generating emails for customers and coworkers, creating a product launch timeline, prompting for data analysis, and handling HR onboarding. You are a curriculum designer. Please recommend the best media for teaching non-technical people how to write prompts using my topics. For example, should I be sharing slides, video, audio, images, or using a workshop mode where I ask them to run a prompt to accomplish something?